Dear Sir:

In response to the Office Action dated October 1, 2002, rejecting claims 33-40, please amend the above-identified U.S. patent application as follows:

In the Abstract

Please replace the abstract with the following rewritten abstract:

B₁ --An endoluminal prosthesis for implantation within a body lumen to maintain luminal patency, including a support structure and a polymer component, which may be in the form of a wire member joined to a polymer cladding. The support structure may be formed of shape memory alloys, which exhibit either shape memory or pseudoelastic properties, or from an elastic material having an inherent spring tension such as spring steel, braided stainless steel wire, or composite materials, such as woven or braided carbon fibers. The polymer cladding may be formed from a variety of suitable materials.--
